...Ever After

Jeremiah 29:11-12

Citygate Network Annual Conference and Exposition
Hyatt Regency Orlando • May 31 — June 3, 2023

COME JOIN US IN FLORIDA!

Once upon a time...

That's how many of the stories read to us as children started. Most of those stories had happily ever after endings — which were great comfort at bedtime. A few years later, happily ever after endings were what we desired for our budding relationships. And now, as followers of Jesus, we take heart in the glorious finale described in the last chapters of Revelation: the ultimate happy ending.

As we work every day with people in peril and grow in our understanding of life-transformation ministry, their happy endings are what should motivate us more than ever — not just their spiritual destinies, but their continuing journeys on earth. Our core work must increasingly focus on helping them follow along our Savior's highway as we measure their progress and encourage them in the journey.

Our 2023 conference will be in a town where there is a lot of make-believe and where living happily ever after is a common refrain. We'll play off that to examine our own journeys in the real world, to be sure we are traveling toward success and paving the way for those who will follow us, whether that's soon to happen or still a long way off.

Should the Lord linger, you better truly believe that we all still have an important part to play in seeing His Kingdom come, on earth as it is in heaven.

Come jump into this ongoing story together in Orlando.

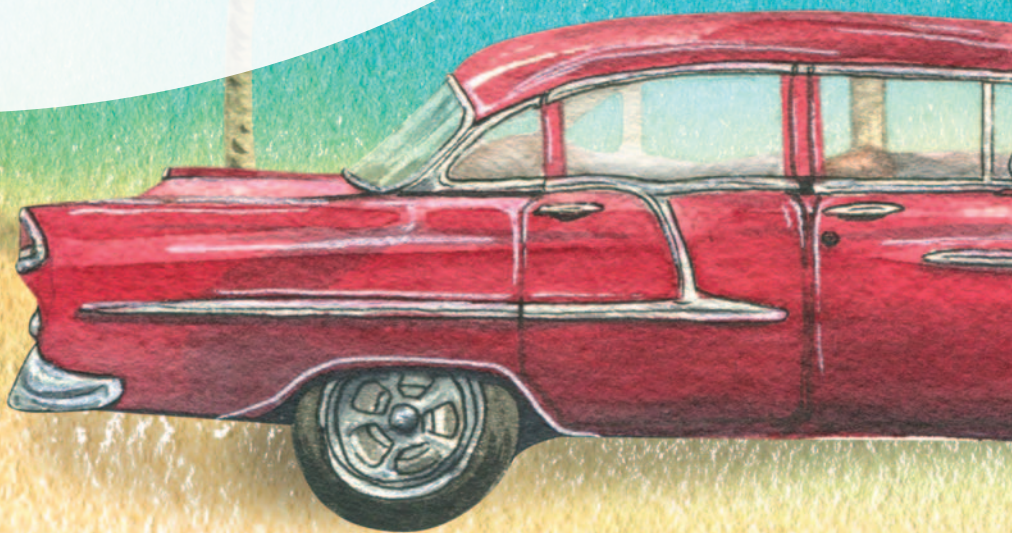

...Ever After

A SPECIAL INVITATION

Dear Members and Friends,

Speaking on behalf of the full board of Citygate Network, we on the Executive Committee bid you to join us for the 2023 Annual Conference and Exposition for a very particular reason. It will be John Ashmen's last conference as president. John has been an extraordinary leader for the association for the past 16 years, and we want to take some time in one of the sessions to look back and then show our appreciation for how he has not only elevated and guided Citygate Network, but also helped shape the genre of life-transformation ministry in North America.

We'll also, in a subsequent session, look ahead and introduce our incoming president and CEO. You won't want to miss this event.

WE HAVE OUTSTANDING PLATFORM GUESTS

We'll welcome to our platform some incredible speakers and musicians whose encouraging words — spoken and sung — will highlight the event.

JOEL HANSON

A Grammy-nominated, Dove Award-winning songwriter and musician, Joel has used his musical gifts in a variety of ways for more than three decades. In addition to making records with PFR and as a solo artist, he has served as a worship pastor, and he passionately pours into a new generation of worship leaders and musicians. Keith Anderson, Matt Hibbard, Ben Hertle, and Annie Close will join Joel on stage to lead the worship portions of our general sessions. Joel and his wife Kathy also run an organic, fresh-cut flower farm in Minnesota.

DR. JOE STOWELL

With a distinguished career in higher education and church leadership, Joe spent 18 years serving as president of Moody Bible Institute, followed by 14 years as president of Cornerstone University, before officially retiring in 2021. Internationally known as an author and conference speaker, he continues to write devotionals for Our Daily Bread and has been involved in the filming of several Christian historical documentaries. On top of all that, Joe serves on the boards of ELIC and CURE International, and, with his wife Martie, enjoys three children and ten grandchildren.

JOHN K. JENKINS, SR.

Serving as lead pastor for First Baptist Church of Glenarden in Landover, Maryland, for more than 30 years, John has gained a reputation as a catalyst for developing dynamic disciples who follow Jesus. In addition, he serves as the board chair for the National Association of Evangelicals, Project Bridges, and Skinner Leadership Institute, and he has served board terms for a variety of other organizations, including Denver Seminary and Teen Challenge. A licensed pilot, he and his wife Trina have six children and seven grandchildren.

DR. MARK YARHOUSE

An award-winning scholar and educator, Mark is a clinical psychologist who specializes in conflicts tied to religious identity and sexual and gender identity. He chairs the Psychology Department at Wheaton College, while also working alongside numerous Christian colleges and universities, the National Institute of Corrections, and the American Psychological Association to help address LGBTQI+ issues. He has published more than 100 peer-reviewed journal articles and book chapters, as well as co-authored and authored several books, including Understanding Gender Dysphoria: Navigating Transgender Issues in a Changing Culture and Sexual Identity and Faith: Helping Clients Find Congruence.

CINDY MORGAN

Cindy's evocative melodies and brilliant songwriting have poetically and prolifically mined the depths of life and love, both in her own recordings and through songwriting for scores of noteworthy musicians. A two-time Grammy nominee, 13-time Dove Award winner, and recipient of the prestigious Songwriter of the Year trophy, Cindy has also authored several books. She has collaborated with Citygate Network to write songs at the Hope in the Gate retreats over the last two years and cocreated the charitable Hymns for Hunger Tour to raise awareness and resources for hunger relief organizations.

DR. FRANK JACOBS

For more than 30 years, Frank and his wife Maxine invested their time and energy to lead and expand the Miami Rescue Mission. Since his retirement, Frank continues sharing from his experience and knowledge as a consultant to churches and ministries. A pioneer in Christian and church television programming, Frank premiered the Gaithers' beloved Alleluia and traveled internationally as an accomplished soloist and recording artist. We'll get to enjoy a few of his gospel renditions during our annual conference general sessions.

NONA JONES

An internationally renowned speaker, author, preacher, and business executive, Nona survived sexual abuse as a child and has become a recognized voice of hope, healing, and inspiration. She uses her platform as Global Head of Faith-Based and Diverse Partnerships at Facebook, and as one of the world's foremost experts on leveraging social technology for ministry, to equip and motivate faith leaders around the world. In addition, Nona and her husband Timothy L. Jones, Sr., co-pastor Open Door Ministries in Gainesville, Florida, where they live with their two boys and a goldendoodle.

MIKE WILLIAMS, ROBERT G. LEE, AND BEAN AND BAILEY

Thanks to our relationship with comedian Mike Williams, we'll offer an evening of entertainment featuring several Florida-based funny men who specialize in making people laugh. Robert G. Lee has toured with some big names and written comedy for Veggie Tales, and Bean and Bailey regularly participate in a variety of events for Christian and recovery organizations, as well as Creation Fest and the Comedy Bus. Along with Mike, they will tickle your funny bone, while teaching you how to incorporate comedy into your own fundraising events to generate more gifts.

MATT BROWN

Back in 1997, Matt and his wife Tammy started in their own living room with a vision to create a church where people could be real with themselves, God, and others. Fast-forward to the present — as the lead pastor of Sandals Church in Riverside, California, Matt's ministry now reaches tens of thousands of people, not only in Southern California, but around the globe. Matt and Tammy are passionate about authenticity and helping people understand their own unique beauty and brokenness. The Browns have raised three children to adulthood.

New Leaders/New Locations Advance Sessions 🎯 $

Across Citygate Network, there are a significant number of new CEOs and member ministries in leadership transitions. What's more, for a number of reasons, member ministries are examining the prospects of relocating key programs or expanding into new locations. With all that's new, this is an ideal time to reinforce your foundations and learn best practices for growth and change so that your ever after is a legendary success.

Choose three of the six sessions shown, plus take part in an opening and closing session. Our New Leaders/New Locations Advance Sessions will give you all this, plus, we'll pair you with a trusted advisor to provide coaching, serve as a sounding board, and connect you to the right people. We're putting this content early in the program, so you can use the entire conference to deepen your understanding, grow your network, and process those "Aha!" moments among friends.

A "grab and gather" continental breakfast is included in the price.

New Leaders (Sessions are 45 minutes in length.)

The First 18

At least 40 percent of new leaders fail within the first 18 months on the job. One-hundred-day plans are all the rage, but data tells us that successful transitions generally take much longer — particularly for external hires. An executive transition should center on taking stock and action in a handful of areas without a firm timeline. When they're complete, the transition is complete. This session will detail those key areas and what to expect so that boards and CEOs can give themselves the best chance at beating the odds.

Sweat the Small Staff

The board chose the new leader, so presumably, they've already bought in. But the staff? That's a different story. Three-quarters of new leaders who fizzle are unable to establish a cultural fit, while 52 percent fail to build a cohesive team. The board and CEO can develop an inspirational vision, but if key team members become frustrated and leave (or worse yet — stay), execution of the strategy will be a challenge. Let's get real about personal and team culture and how to build a solid working relationship with your ministry's most important resources.

So Much at Stake

Community leaders, donors, volunteers, and partner agencies are some of the stakeholder groups the new leader will need to win over. Most want the leader to succeed, but what about the fence-sitters and antagonists? Stakeholder leadership is not just about winning them over — desirable as that may be. People often have a reasonable cause to disagree, and how a leader treats all stakeholders is telling about the quality of leadership. And board members — you have a vital role in all this. This session will outline a stakeholder engagement process — including the board's and CEO's roles — and describe the big factors leading to productive stakeholder relationships.

New Locations (Sessions are 45 minutes in length.)

Should We Stay or Should We Go?

Has your ministry been invited — or even pressured — to move from its current location? After you're done being offended or angry (and maybe rightly so), consider that there may be an opportunity that God is unfolding. Or maybe you've already seen the opportunity, but you're not sure if it's the optimal strategic move. We'll detail a systematic way of looking at the issue that also includes a discernment process so your board can make the best decision.

We're Moving — Now What?

One important facet of changing locations is a community needs assessment — a tactical exercise to identify service gaps in the area, as well as the resources and strengths available to meet those needs. This process will help inform location, facility design, programs, staff, and more. What are the steps to conducting an informative assessment? What stakeholders should you get input from? This session will describe a framework to provide you with the information needed to help make the transition smooth, while also inspiring you to envision all that your ministry can be. We'll also feature a member ministry that took the opportunity to start fresh — new location, new partners, new programs, new staff members, etc.

Money with a Capital C

Chances are your ministry needs additional funding to purchase, build, and, possibly, remodel facilities — not to mention all the other financial demands that go along with a move and launching new programs. A well-planned and executed capital campaign can provide all or much of what you'll need to make the move and help you better serve your community. This isn't something you'll want to launch halfheartedly. An effective campaign will be demanding, but well worth the time and energy it requires. In this session, capital campaign experts will detail the process and help you understand what to look for in a consultant so you can enter the process confidently.
